

David Campese

Campo has been something of a walking headline all his life. First, as a revered Wallaby winger and since retirement, an outspoken critic of rugby and (most recently) a tweeter!

But his football did the talking in a stellar career where he has been compared with the best:

"Like Pele, he is associated with the very best and historic moments in sport; he has a special genius which shows an individual can still paint his own portrait and leave an indelible mark for all to treasure. The ingredients are all the same: stature, presence, personality, style ... "

Of course, being a successful sportsman does not guarantee you the ability to effectively address audiences. But after more than 13 years of public speaking experience and countless media interviews, as well as his natural instinct to 'tell it as it is', David has mastered the skill of capturing and entertaining audiences.

He's a down - to - earth bloke who wowed the audiences in the UK last year.
Get him on your team.

'Too Easy (Campese)!
